ARIZONA.
Snap Shots from All Over the Territory.

Arizona has the greatest extent of forest wealth of any state in the Union. The Coconino forests will supply saw timber for generations.

Cochise county ranks first in the territory in miles of railroad which passes through her borders, being 117.37 miles, with a valuation of $1,012,710.

Geronimo is sadly in need of a branch jail. But for the constabulary, tramps would own the town. They are too far from the county seat to make their arrest expedient.

The Range News says: Mr. J. A. Crowley, who last fall contracted for a large number of steers in the Globe country, has since been offered three dollars a head for his bargain.

Mr. F. C. McKinney, of Mammoth, has purchased a half interest in the cattle of his cousin, Joe McKinney, near Fort Thomas. The cattle will be gathered this spring and removed to the McKinney ranch, near Bowie. —Range News.

The Citizen says: The three prominent applicants for the Tucson post-office are all closely related to ex-Governor Hughes. Knox Corbett is a nephew by marriage to the governor, Tom Hughes is a brother and Mr. Evans is a brother-in-law.

Flagstaff has sold her $50,000 water bonds and will immediately begin the construction of a fine water system. The source is located 16 miles from the town at an elevation of 2000 feet. The spring has a continuous flow of 100 miners inches and is pure as crystal.

Wm. Garland, president of the Gila Valley, Globe & Northern railway, was seen at Bowie Thursday while on his way from Geronimo to Los Angeles, and stated in answer to an inquiry that he hoped in a short time to begin work on the extension of the road from Geronimo to Globe. —Range News.

A Mormon colony has been established at Franklin, Graham county, over near the New Mexico line. Nineteen Mormon families are located there. Their canal is nearly completed and they will create a fine agricultural district. A Mormon church was formally instituted there Sunday, March 21.

The Dunkards undertook to inject some of their religion into the school election held at Glendale last week, and the sinful outside population rebelled and beat these good people badly in the contest. Holy people don't count for much in an Arizona election, particularly when they try to jam their creeds down a fellow's wind-pipe. —Gazette.

A law has recently been enacted in which the sheepmen of Arizona will be interested, as well as the counties which have been furnishing pasture for the vast flocks of sheep from the north which have been driven to the low lands for winter pasture. Formerly the counties in which the owner resided got the full benefit of the taxes, which is now divided so as to go to the treasuries of both the counties, according to the length of time the flock remains in each county. It is a fair measure, and is among the good laws made by the Nineteenth. —St. Johns Herald.

The negotiations which have been closed between the Southern Pacific Company and the Santa Fe, by which the Mojave branch is given in exchange by the Southern Pacific Company for the Santa Fe branch running from Benson to Guaymas, is a most important railroad transaction by which both companies will be greatly benefited. The Santa Fe will have a continuous line from Chicago to the Pacific coast, and the Southern Pacific will be able to reach tide water for the south Pacific trade for eastern points many miles nearer destination than heretofore. —Star.

United States Attorney Ellinwood yesterday received a telegram from Solomonville saying that Deputy United States Marshal J. W. Slankard had pleaded guilty to the charge of removing mesquite timber from government land. The plea was in the nature of a compromise, and as this is the first action instituted in the territory the fine was made nominal. The authorities declare that the next victim will receive harsh treatment. This action is likely to affect the price of fuel in most places in Arizona, as the supply until now has come largely from government land. The statute under which Slankard was prosecuted will now be rigidly enforced. —Republican.

Apologies of Senator Gallinger's strictures on the workings of the civil service, Arizona can furnish a horrible example of her own, says the Phoenix correspondent of the Los Angeles Times. The force of a score or so of line-riders tributary to the Nogales custom house is under the civil service. The requirements of the work are that a line-rider know the border; that he be handy with a horse, a good judge of contraband mesquite and cigars, something of a trailer, and a fighter when in uncomfortable quarters with smugglers. Instead of that, the examination calls for all manner of impracticable school knowledge of no consequence in the duties. Last October another line-rider was wanted, but the only man who had passed the examination was J. A. Black, a decrepit school-master, totally undesirable for the duties, and the place was left open.

AN ACT TO ENCOURAGE PROSPECTING FOR MINERALS.

[Introduced by Chas. D. Reppy.] Be it enacted by the legislative assembly of the territory of Arizona:

Section 1. The regents of the University of Arizona shall charge for assaying ores taken from deposits and mines within the territory of Arizona no higher rate than fifty cents (50c) for each assay producing gold and silver; and one dollar ($1.00) for assays producing gold, silver and copper; and one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) for assaying ores showing more than three metals; that the maximum rate of an assay shall be one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) and the minimum rate fifty cents (50c).

Sec. 2. There shall be a uniform fee of one dollar and fifty cents charged by each county recorder in the territory of Arizona for recording each notice of location of a mining claim, including certificate of work done to comply with the law regarding locations, the said one dollar and fifty cents to be in full for filing, recording and indexing said notice and certificate, and certifying to the same under seal.

Sec. 3. All acts and parts of acts in conflict with this act are hereby repealed.

Sec. 4. This act shall take effect and be in force upon its passage and approval.

A PALACE OF SILVER.

Edward Rosewater, chief of the bureau of publicity and promotion of the Transmississippi Exposition, to be held in Omaha from June to November, 1898, acting for the exposition directors, approved and accepted the plans of Architect S. S. Beman, of Chicago, for a silver palace. This palace is to be the most imposing feature of the exposition, and the central figure in a portion of the grounds to be called El Dorado.

The building is to be 400 feet square, surmounted with mammoth ornamental towers, and the entire structure will be covered with rolled silver, which will reflect the dazzling glories and the rising and setting sun. The silver to be used in its external covering will be contributed by the miners of the great west. Over 300,000 square feet of external surface will be covered by the precious metal.

It will be arranged in the form of a square, with open arcades and loggias at each story, similar to the Venetian palace. The corners will be adorned with octagonal towers, terminating with spires and pinnacles covered with the shining metal.

The crowning story of the palace will be the central lantern, or spire, which is octagonal in form, 250 feet high and 100 feet in circumference. The roof of the lantern will be of glass. Wide avenues will traverse the ground floor, at the intersection of which elevators will ascend to the roof. The interior of the building will be devoted to a perfect and practical exemplification of the uses of silver, from the mine to its most intricate and artistic adaptation to the beautiful in art and the indestructible in science.

The contributions of silver will be in the nature of a loan, and when the exposition is over the building will be burned and the silver returned to the original owners.

Already the public-spirited citizens who are managing the exposition have secured subscriptions to the amount of $400,000. Congress will be asked to appropriate half a million dollars for the erection of a building for government exhibits and for the transportation and proper arrangement of the great fair. —Chicago Times-Herald.

"One of the great objections to whiskey," said the man of abstemious habits, "is the fact that in this era of adulteration it contains so many foreign substances." "Young man," replied Col. Stillwell, you have just given utterance to one of the most impressive truths that I know of. Why, snb, last night I saw a man pouring water into it."

MINING NOTES.

The Republican is informed that Rochester, N. Y., parties will probably erect a $250,000 smelter at Phoenix.

An option has been given upon the 40 copper mines of the Santa Rita Copper and Iron Company, at Santa Rita, N. M., the reported price being $1,500,000.

William Bayly recently disposed of 51 per cent of the stock of the Tom Boy mine at Telluride, Colo., to an English syndicate for the sum of $2,225,000. The mine has paid $800,000 in dividends the last two years.

There are now about 60 men at work developing the different copper properties, forty miles north of Winslow, and including that which was recently bonded by wealthy eastern capitalists who were represented in the transaction by Buckley O'Neil, mayor of Prescott.

Never before in the history of Arizona has there been such activity generally throughout the territory in mining interests as at present. It has just dawned upon the outside world that Arizona is full of rich mines of gold, silver and copper and that the people here are going ahead without making any unnecessary noise about it. —Gazette.

The Calumet and Hecla Mining Company, of Michigan, has declared its 192d dividend, $3 per share ($300,000), payable April 25d to stockholders of record March 27th. This is the sixth dividend of the current fiscal year, and makes a total of $40 per share ($4,000,000) paid for that year, which ends April 30th next, and a grand total of $48,850,000 paid in dividends up to date.

There is some talk to the effect that the Anaconda Company will use compressed air instead of electricity as a propelling power for underground haulage. It is expected to have the underground workings of the different mines completed now in a short time so that they will all be connected at the same levels. When this system of haulage is put in it will show an immense saving over the present man-system now in vogue.

C. D. Lane, of Angels Camp, Cal., and owner of Yuma county's bonanza mine, La Fortuna, examined the new gold mines at Glendon, in the Short Horn mountains. His opinion of the new find is not given. The Yuma Sun says: Mr. Lane has made one of the most striking successes at the mining business ever made in the west, he having worked himself up from the position of an humble, hard-working prospector until his wealth is counted by the millions.

Nearly every section of the west where mining is in successful operation the supply of workmen is more than sufficient for the local demand, and those who advise men to go to this or that place cannot be considered a friend of the laborer. Our advice to the workmen is to stay away from booming camps unless they have sufficient funds to carry them over until work can be secured. Our advice to capitalists is that at no time in the history of the country was there such opportunities to invest, if wisely and carefully done, as at the present, and mining certainly offers the best inducements for making large profits. —Western Mining World.

The Western Mining World says: The past week has been no exception to the rule in the Battle camp and we have witnessed several shocking accidents by which men have either passed out of existence or been maimed for life. In every instance the blame has been entirely upon the men themselves. These accidents grow alarmingly frequent through foolhardiness of the men themselves. In a measure these accidents can be somewhat checked, and it is the duty of every mine manager to exact rigid rules, and of foremen and shift bosses to see that they are obeyed. These rules should cover all actions while at work, prohibiting foolhardy actions. A penalty of discharge should be attached, which would soon have a good effect on them.

The past two or three years has demonstrated the great mineral wealth of the mining states of the west, and the result of the general prospecting tour in vogue during this time has conclusively proven that the country is of greater importance as a mineral producer than the most sanguine had ever hoped. We feel safe in saying, says the Western Mining World, that nothing can now retard the development of every mineral producing section, and during the coming summer an advancement will be made that will be simply wonderful. Millions will be the ultimate outcome of it all, and millions of money will be taken from the ground, the outpouring of which will not come into competition with the thousands of starving poor throughout the eastern states, but on the other hand will be just so much more added to the wealth of the world.

A FARM COLONY FOR CHICAGO.

Gen. Booth's plan of returning the surplus of city populations to the country by farm colonies, which has been in successful operation in England for several years and has also been put in operation near Boston and New York, is to be tried in this city under the auspices of Commander Booth-Tucker. The Gage farm at Riverside, the largest piece of land the city owns, has been secured for the experiment.

Perhaps the most hopeful indication in connection with the problem of dealing with the unemployed is to be found in these efforts toward a utilization of opportunities and means that have heretofore been neglected as too small and unimportant to be considered. There is something inspiring in considering large plans of benevolence which look toward the abolishing of poverty and redressing the evils of the social organization which result in poverty and destitution.

The Salvation Army is to be commended for taking up this method of relief in a practicable way, and thus demonstrating, on a small scale, the advisability of further progress in the same direction. This has been done on the farm of 1000 acres near London, the success of which enterprise is a standing refutation of those inclined to ridicule such methods of remedying evils that result from our present social system. —Chicago Record.

President McKinley has already distinguished himself by shaking the hands of 1395 callers at the White House in 31 minutes.

An exchange propounds the following inquiries: Have you ever noticed that when you meet a doctor he says, "How are you?" A newspaper man inquires, "What do you know?" But a lawyer hits you on the back and ejaculates, "What have you got?"

"We take pleasure in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy because it is praised by all who try it," says J. W. Cox & Son, druggists, Marshfield, Ore. No one afflicted with a throat or lung trouble can use this remedy without praising it. It always gives prompt relief. It is especially valuable for colds, as it relieves the lungs, makes breathing easier and aids expectoration. A cold will never result in pneumonia when this remedy is taken and reasonable care exercised. For sale by H. C. Hitchcock, druggist.
